

Retina Specialists of Southern Arizona

Leonard Joffe, M.D., F.R.C.S.Ed., and Reid F. Schindler, M.D., F.R.C.S.(C), have about 65 years combined practice in Tucson. Dr. Joffe received his medical training in South Africa at the University of Witwatersrand, and in Edinburgh, Scotland, as well as Wills Eye Hospital in Philadelphia. He observes that his favorite part of his practice is the, “satisfaction that comes with the ability to treat the most serious retinal challenges.” He also says that he enjoys developing “close interpersonal relationships with patients.” Dr. Schindler earned his Doctor of Medicine from the University of Alberta, completed his residency in ophthalmology at the University of Western Ontario, and completed a retinal fellowship at Wills Eye Hospital in Philadelphia. He notes that he chose to practice in this field because of “the challenge of investigating and resolving serious medical problems.”
